Organized by: Department of Chemistry

Collaboration (if any): KSCSTE

No. of participants: 120

The Chemistry Department of Vimala College (Autonomous) Thrissur, observed "OZONE DAY CELEBRATIONS-2017" on 22 September 2017. The motto for this year was "CARING FOR ALL LIFE UNDER THE SUN". The program was sponsored by KSCSTE.

The program was inaugurated by Prof. Dr. P. Muhammed Shafi (Retired professor, Department of Chemistry, Calicut University). It was followed by an informative session on the climatic changes and ozone depletion. In his speech he talked on the importance of developing critical thinking and also shared his concern over people's growing fondness for luxury which ultimately destroys our planet. His talk instilled in us a moral responsibility to take care of our planet and to preserve its resources for the future generation. The number of participants was 216 which included students and faculty of this institution and from other institutions.

An intercollegiate painting competition was conducted and its theme was "caring for all life under the sun". Twelve students from various college participated and cash award was presented for the winners. First prize was won by Ms. Vindhuja K. Viju of St. Aloysius College, Elthuruthu. Second and third positions were won by Aiswarya Vijayan of Sree Kerala Varma College, Thrissur and Anjana Jayakumar of Vimala College, Thrissur. Dr. Sr. Mariette .A. Therattil, Principal, Vimala College distributed the prizes.

Two documentaries portraying the importance of conservation of nature were played. One film (Mannira) focused on the impact of human activities on other life forms. It showed how dumping of plastic waste to the ground affected the existence of earthworms. The other short film (World 2050) revolves around the evolution of the earth over the years and how humans have destroyed it. Both the films sent an alarming message to the audience on the need for conservation of our planet and its resources.

Afternoon session was presided by Dr. Sr. Mariette .A. Therattil, Principal, Vimala College. Various cultural programmes were performed by the students of department of chemistry and the program was concluded by 03:00 pm.

The Department of English has initiated an innovative program called Story Wall. It is a platform for enriching the literary and artistic talents of young minds. It aims to develop the writing skills of students; to nurture their imaginative faculty and to appreciate their artistic flair. Students brought in best of their works and a team selected the finest pieces among them. That included many articles, stories, poetry, book reviews, paintings and pencil sketches. All the selected works were put up on the Story Wall. Later this collection was made in to a little magazine "Tributaries 2K18". The magazine was officially released on 7th March 2018 in the Silver Jubilee Seminar hall by Dr. Sr. Mariatte Atherattil. Tributaries reflected the shades of young vibrant talent; it inaugurated a new tradition which is to cherish in the coming years.
